

NMRS Medal for Young Scientist - 2024

Nominations are invited for the NMRS Medal for Young Scientist-2024. This is an annual award given to encourage young scientists (a faculty/scientist/student) who are carrying out research in India in the area of magnetic resonance and its applications. The nominee must be less than 35 years of age as of 31st December of the year of the award (i.e., as of 31-12-2024).

A faculty/scientist/student, who is nominated for the above award should be a member of NMRS. The faculty/scientist nominating a candidate for the above award should also be a member of NMRS. All the papers published in the broad area of magnetic resonance and its applications during the calendar year (01-01-2024 to 31-12-2024) would only be considered for this award.

The nominee should have publications as first author or corresponding author that extensively researches or applies magnetic resonance. The published papers should reflect original research in magnetic resonance or the extensive utility of the available MR methods. The publications not related to magnetic resonance and its applications will not be considered. The committee will take a judicious view on this and would be taking into account the quality of science of the papers published, the impact factors of the journals where the work is published, etc. and the committee's decision would be final. Further, the nominations not fulfilling the above criteria will not be considered for the award.

The papers should have full citations, such as journal name, year, volume, page numbers and the impact factors. Any other format, such as manuscript accepted, manuscript submitted, manuscript under preparation, manuscript under review, manuscript in press, etc. will not be considered. Also, reviews, chapters in books, general articles, etc., would not be considered for the award.

The award carries a certificate and a medal.

Interested candidates may send their resume (CV) along with the list of publications, indicating the impact factor of the journals and copies of reprints of the papers as a single zip file to:

President of NMRS, Prof. N. R. Jagannathan at: jagan1954@hotmail.com

Nominations are accepted until 17:00 hrs of 23/12/2024